Words by Mrs Cecil Francies Alexander (1818-1895), Irish author of many children's hymns, which were intended as tools to teach the Christian faith and its celebrations. Philanthropist and co-founder of a school for the deaf. Married the future Primate of All-Ireland. Tune by Henry John Gauntlett (1805-1876), organist, designer and builder of organs for William Hill's company, and composer of many thousands of hymn tunes. Chosen by Mendelssohn to play for the premier performance of Elijah.

1. Once in royal David's city stood a lowly cattle shed, where a mother laid her baby
in a manger for his bed.
Mary was that mother mild,
Jesus Christ her little child.

2. He came down to earth from heaven who is God and Lord of all,
and his shelter was a stable,
and his cradle was a stall;
with the poor and mean and lowly,
lived on earth our Saviour holy.

3. Not in that poor, lowly stable with the oxen standing by we shall see him, but in heaven,
set at God's right hand on high.
Where like stars his children crowned,
all in white shall wait around.

Let Us Light a Candle

Words and music by June Clark (1966), who studied piano and composition at the Royal Academy of Music. Her first works were published whilst still a twenty-year-old student, launched as one of England's rare women composers. Alongside a career as an international pianist, she published many vocal and choral works. This piece is dedicated to the choir of St Alban's Cathedral, where she founded a Chamber Choir in 1958.

Jesus Christ the Apple Tree

18th century words, probably written as a carol, possibly by Revd Richard Hutchins, a Calvinist Baptist minister in Northamptonshire. It alludes to the apple tree in Song of Solomon 2:3, which has been taken as an image of Christ, and to the tree of life in Luke 13:18-19 and elsewhere. This setting is by Elizabeth Poston (1905–1987) a composer, pianist and writer, a director of music at the BBC during World War II. She is said to have used gramophone records to send coded messages to allies in Europe. She also played the piano at the National Gallery lunchtime concerts organised by Myra Hess

It came upon the midnight clear

Words published in 1849 by Edmund Sears, pastor of a Unitarian Church in Massachusetts. Traditional English tune adapted by Sir Arthur Sullivan (1842-1900), famous for many orchestral and choral works, particularly his comic operas in collaboration with W.S. Gilbert.

It came upon the midnight clear,
that glorious song of old,
from angels bending near the earth
to touch their harps of gold:
"Peace on the earth, good will to men,
from heaven's all-gracious King."
The world in solemn stillness lay,
to hear the angels sing.

Yet with the woes of sin and strife
The world has suffered long;
Beneath the angel-strain have rolled
Two thousand years of wrong;
And man, at war with man, hears not
The love-song which they bring:
Oh hush the noise, ye men of strife,
And hear the angels sing!

For lo! the days are hastening on,
by prophet-bards foretold,
when, with the ever-circling years
comes round the age of gold;
when peace shall over all the earth
its ancient splendours fling,
and the whole world send back the song which now the angels sing.

While shepherds watched their flocks

Words by Nahum Tate (1652-1715), an Irish lyricist who was Poet Laureate in England from 1692 until his death. First published in 1700 in a collection of metrical psalms which Tate published with Nicholas Brady. It was the only Christmas hymn authorised in the Church of England, as up to then only psalms could be sung. Dozens of tunes have been used for it. We sing it tonight to Cranbrook, composed about 1800 by Thomas Clark (1775-1859), a Methodist cobbler from Canterbury. When it first appeared it was used for Grace, 'tis a charming sound by Philip Doddridge but it soon became better known as the tune for While Shepherds Watched. Fifty years later a Halifax church choir used it on their outing to sing On Ilkla Moor Baht 'At and the association remained. The usual tune, Winchester Old, was brought in by Victorian clergy as part of a movement to suppress the jovial popular tunes and make church music more solemn, replacing the West Gallery bands with an organ. Thomas Hardy built his novel Under the Greenwood Tree on the controversy.

While shepherds watched their flocks by night,

All seated on the ground,

The angel of the Lord came down, x2

And glory shone around. x3

“Fear not!” said he (for mighty dread

Had seized their troubled mind);

“Glad tidings of great joy I bring x2

To you and all mankind. x3

“To you, in David’s town, this day

Is born of David’s line

A Saviour, who is Christ the Lord, x2

And this shall be the sign: x3

“The heavenly babe you there shall find

To human view displayed,

All meanly wrapped in swathing bands x2

And in a manger laid.” x3

Thus spake the seraph, and forthwith

Appeared a shining throng

Of angels praising God, who thus x2

Addressed their joyful song: x3

“All glory be to God on high,
And to the earth be peace;
Goodwill henceforth from heaven to men x2
Begin and never cease!” x3

Gaudete Traditional words and music arranged by David Lee (1926)

Translation:

Rejoice! rejoice! Christ is born of the Virgin Mary, rejoice!
At this time of grace and longed-for blessing,
love faithfully offers a song of praise.
God is made human in this wonderful birth:
the world is cleansed through the rule of Christ.
The gate of heaven now opens which to us was closed,
sending forth transforming light through which holiness is found.
Therefore we meet in pure songs of joy:
we bless the Lord, king of our salvation.

The Boar's Head Carol, 15th century words arr. Sir Malcom Sargeant

The practice of bringing a boar's head ceremonially to the table at a Yuletide feast still continues at Queen's College, Oxford.

The boar's head in hand bear I,
Bedeck'd with bays and rosemary.

And I pray you, my masters, be merry

Quot estis in convivio (Translation: As many as are at the feast)

Caput apri defero (Translation: The boar's head I bear)

Reddens laudes Domino (Translation: Rendering praises to the Lord)

The boar's head, as I understand,

Is the rarest dish in all this land,

Which thus bedeck'd with a gay garland

Let us servire cantico. (Translation: Let us serve with a song).

Our steward hath provided this

In honour of the King of Bliss;

Which on this day to be servèd is

In Regimensi atrio. (Translation: In the hall of The Queen's)

Gloria, Hosanna in excelsis

2. E'en so here below, below
Let steeple bells be swungen
And i-o, i-o, i-o
By priest and people be sungen
Gloria, Hosanna in excelsis

Your matin chime, ye ringers
May ye beautifully rime

Fum. Fum, Fum Traditional Catalan Dance Carol: English version and arrangement by Alice Parker and Robert Shaw. Thought to have originated in 16th or 17th cent. 'Fum' means 'smoke' in Catalan. Its meaning here is debated: chimney smoke seen from afar? the beating of a drum or strumming of a guitar? the noise of a rocking cradle? The rhythms are those of the Sardana, a courtly dance originating in Catalonia and Provence.

Choir, Band and Audience

Words by Charles Wesley (1707-88); tune by Mendelssohn (1809-47)

1. Hark! The herald-angels sing

"Glory to the newborn king;
Peace on earth and mercy mild,
God and sinners reconciled."

Joyful all ye nations rise,
Join the triumph of the skies;
With th' angelic host proclaim,
"Christ is born in Bethlehem!"

Hark! The herald-angels sing
"Glory to the new-born king."

2. Christ, by highest heaven adored,

Christ, the everlasting Lord;
Late in time behold him come
Offspring of a virgin's womb:
Veiled in flesh the Godhead see,
Hail the incarnate Deity,
Pleased as man with man to dwell
Jesus, our Emmanuel.

Hark! The herald-angels sing
"Glory to the newborn King."

3. Hail the Heaven-born Prince of Peace!

Hail the Sun of Righteousness.
Light and life to all he brings,
Risen with healing in his wings;
Mild he lays his glory by,
Born that man no more may die;
Born to raise the sons of earth,
Born to give them second birth.

Hark! The herald angels sing
"Glory to the new-born king."

The money raised by this concert will be given to the Lidgett Park Methodist Church's church project for this year, the charity Zarach. It was founded to tackle a part of the issue of child poverty in Leeds, where thousands of children are going to sleep hungry and cold. Zarach gets referrals from schools and partner organisations when a need is identified. Within seven days they contact the family and prepare a bed bundle, which is delivered by their experienced team. A Zarach bed bundle includes a brand-new bed, mattress, duvet, pillow, sheets, pyjamas, hygiene kit and teddy bear. They also work with local partners to include food parcels and, if needed, a school uniform.
